

Breastfeeding: It's a Good Start

World Breastfeeding Week (WBW)

August 1st – 7th

Safe • Sound • Sustainable

The Golden Bow is a symbol for the protection, promotion and support of breastfeeding. One loop represents the mother, the other represents the child. The knot symbolizes the father, family and society who play a pivotal role in creating a conducive environment for breastfeeding. The gold color shows that breastfeeding is the gold standard for infant feeding. The Golden Bow is a joint outreach initiative of the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) and World Alliance for Breast Feeding Action (WABA)

What is World Breastfeeding Week?

World Breastfeeding Week (WBW) is August 1st – 7th and celebrates the signing of the Innocenti Declaration on the Protection, Promotion and Support of Breastfeeding. It is celebrated in 120 countries on various dates. The theme for 2006 is "Code Watch: 25 Years of Protecting Breastfeeding." The International Code of Marketing of Breastmilk Substitutes, also known as "The Code," marks its 25th anniversary in 2006.

What is World Breastfeeding Week?

Adopted by the World Health Assembly in 1981, The Code is an international public health recommendation which seeks to give women pure facts about feeding their babies, free of aggressive infant formula marketing influences, so that mothers can make well informed feeding decisions.

Marketing refers to all promotional activities by manufacturers and distributors, from advertising and labeling to their relations with health workers and their associations.

What is World Breastfeeding Week?

The Innocenti Declaration was produced and adopted in 1990 by participants at the WHO/UNICEF meeting on “Breastfeeding in the 1990s: A Global Initiative.” The document lists the benefits of breastfeeding, plus global and governmental goals.

Benefits of Breastfeeding

Benefits for Baby

Breast milk is the most complete form of nutrition for infants

Breastfed infants tend to gain less unnecessary weight and are learner

Premature babies do better when breastfed compared to premature babies who are fed formula

Breastfed babies score slightly higher on IQ tests, especially babies who were born prematurely

Benefits of Breastfeeding

Benefits for Mom

Breastfeeding lowers the risk of breast and ovarian cancers

Breastfeeding, especially exclusive breastfeeding, delays the return of normal ovulation and menstrual cycles. However, still talk with your doctor or nurse about birth control choices

Breastfeeding helps your uterus to go back to its original size and lessens bleeding a woman may have after giving birth

Nursing uses up extra calories, making it easier to lose the pounds of pregnancy

Breastfeeding saves time and money. You do not have to measure and mix formula, and there are no bottles to warm-up.

Breastfeeding may increase a mother's self-confidence and the feelings of closeness with their infants
